WATERS.

THE facts concerning the first four generations in this genealogy were obtained from MATHEW A. STICKNEY, Esq., of Salem, Mass., and some of the Waters genealogy has been printed in the "History of Sutton."

Some items are from "Gleanings from English Records", by Emmerton and Waters.

Mr. Stickney married a Waters, and has spent much time in collecting the genealogies of the various branches of the Waters family.

It is hoped that what is here printed will interest this branch of the family in having the result of Mr. Stickney's labor put in such shape that all of the name of Waters may become better acquainted with their family history—and thus be interested in tracing back the line of descent further towards the origin of the name.

W. W.

WATERS.

THE name of WATERS is of Norman origin. Bardsley classes it with Wat, Watts, Wattare, Water, Watson, Waterson, Watkins and Watkinson, which were originally nicknames of Walter, the name of a saint who resided in Aquitaine, where through his celebrity the name had become widely spread in the early part of the tenth century. He also places it with the numerous class of locative names, such as Roger atte (at the) Lane, Thomas atte Brooke, Walter atte Water, which afterwards became Roger Lane, Thomas Brooke, Walter Atwater, or Waters.

The name has also been derived from the Norman French, Euille or Everaux (a spring or waters), from which Wassa, Washbourn (afterwards Washington), Waterton and Waters; and from the first form we have the name Wells, and from the second the root of Vernon (ver, a spring).

Waters is a common name in England, and it is possible there may be as many distinct families as there are different ways of deriving the name. In America there are as many as four entirely distinct families, but they may have a common origin. In Yorkshire, England, many have borne the name of Waters.

From the year 1400 to 1600 it appears in various forms: Wartyr, Warter, Watter, Watters, Waters.

Emmerton and Waters, in their "Gleanings from English Records", (Salem, 1880), say that "Robert Watter, of Cundall, an eminent merchant of York, was twice lord mayor thereof, viz.: 1591 and 1603. He entertained King James VI of Scotland on his way to London to be enthroned as King of England and was knighted by that monarch 20 April, 1603."

Sir Robert died 12 May, 1612, and was buried in the choir of the Church of St. Crux, under a goodly monument ornamented with the effigies of his wife and three children and with several other figures and bearing this inscription:

Sir Robert Watter Knt Alderman and twice
Lord Mayor of this City. A Father to the Poore, a Friend to the Comynalty of this citty, and a good Benefactor to this church, who dyed May 12, 1612. Margaret his wife deceased March 30, 1608, and their three children.

Sir Robert had a brother William who was also Lord Mayor of York in 1612.

The ancestor of the above was Richard Wartyr, a merchant in York, Sheriff in 1431 and Lord Mayor in 1436 and 1451, and represented the city in Parliament in 1434. He had a brother William Warter, prior of Warter, Co. York, 1424, and another, Francis or Nicholas Warter, vicar of St. Mary's, York, 1429 and Bishop of Dromore.

Burke gives the Arms of Waters, who was York Herald (one of the six Heralds of the College of Arms) in the time of Richard II. (1377—1399).

Savage (Gen. of N. E. Families) mentions among others of the name:

Anthony Waters, of Hempstead, L. I., town clerk in 1663. (Anthony Waters was one of the English agitators there in that year, and the same name appears as one of the Vestrymen of the Parish Church, Jamaica, in 1705).

Bevil Waters of Hartford, Conn., in list of freemen, 1669; died 14 February, 1730, aged 97 years; married his second wife when he was 92 years old.

Edward Waters of New Haven, took oath of fidelty, 1647.

John Waters came as servant of Gov. Winthrop, 1630; was from Neyland, County Suffolk.

Richard Waters of Ipswich, 1638.

William of Marblehead, 1674, probably son of Richard of Salem.

Edward Waters was one of the Wardens of St. Peter's Church, Westchester County, N. Y., from 1695 to 1701.

There was an Edward Waters of "eventful and romantic life", "who came out with Sir George Somers and Sir Thomas Yates to make a settlement in Virginia, and, in July, 1609, with others of the passengers and crew of the Sea Venture, was wrecked on 'the still vex'd Bermoothes.'" He afterwards came to Virginia.

There are at present none of the descendants of Richard Waters living in Salem, though there are three distinct families of the name living there; one descended from William Waters, an early settler of Boston; one from Lawrence of Watertown, in 1636; and one whose progenitor came from England in the last century.

There were two of the Waters name in Woburn about 1675, Joseph and Samuel, descendants of Lawrence Waters. The latter had a large family.

ANCESTRY OF THE WATERS FAMILY OF MARIETTA, OHIO, DESCENDANTS OF JAMES WATERS OF LONDON, ENGLAND.

FIRST GENERATION.

JAMES WATERS, of St. Buttolph without Aldgate London, citizen and ironmonger of London; will dated 17 May, 1617, proved 16 Feb'y, 1617; to be buried in St. Buttolph's parish, near children; wife Phebe and son RICHARD WATERS (under twenty-one years of age) legatees; partner Samuel Rowland. [Meade, L. 17.] James was buried Feb. 2. 1617.

Phebe, his widow, married William Plasse, as will be seen from the following record: She was dau. of Mr George Manning, Gent. of Downe, Kent.

1618–19 Feb'y 18, William Plasse of St. Botolph Aldgate, London, gunmaker, and Phebe Waters, of same, widow of James Waters Ironmonger at St. Botolph aforesaid, have license to marry granted them by the Bishop of London. married Feb. 23. 1618.

Richard Waters and William Plasse came to New England.

"William Plasse was a gunsmith to whom the town of Salem (Mass.) granted, in 1637, for him and his wife the house formerly Mr. Conant's ——— &c., and in 1643 appointed a committee to provide for him a convenient room to work in — &c. He died in 1646 and his estate was administered by Thomas Wickes or Weeks, whose wife Alice (afterwards wife of Nicholas Potter) and two children, Hannah, wife of John Pickman, and Bethia, wife of John Archer, are afterwards found in occupancy of the real estate. The gunsmith's tools were said to be in the possession of Richard Waters, who calls himself a son-in-law of the deceased."

The following items are from the town records of Salem, as given in the "History of Sutton":

"4th—5 mo—1637 William Plaise requested a tenne acre lott & it is granted 21 d—6 mo—1637—it is ordered yt mr Connants house, ground & half-acre of corn standing on the same joining next unto mr Jno. fisk shall be bought by the Towne for ould mr William Plase & the Towne to mak payment thereof."

(Mem.—This house of Mr. Roger Conant, leader or governor of the "old Planters", as they were called, who had already made a settlement here before the coming of Endicott and Winthrop, stood on the land now occupied by the late residence of the Hon. Jacob S. Rogers, deceased, opposite Derby square and the town hall.)

"25—10—1637.— the marsh and meadow Lands that have formerly layed in comon to this towne shall now be appropriated to the Inhabitants of Salem, proportioned out unto them according to the heads of their families."

In a list probably made out for this appointment, the name of Willm. Plais occurs, with the figure 2 set against it, showing, doubtless, the number of his family (himself and wife).

4—10—1643, certain men are appointed as a "comitee to provide for William Plaise a convenient roome to worke in and to sett up a forge for him & wood & other necessaries to the Valew of £4."

"20—2—1646 Ordered that the Towne is to beare 29*s* of the charges toward William Plaise his keeping in his sickness and his burial & the rest to be paid by Richard Waters. The whole amounting to £2, 19*s*, 6*d*."

These may certify that my father-in-law, William Plaise, gunsmith, departed this life in Salem, this fifteenth day of the 2d mo. 1646.

RICHARD WATERS.

SECOND GENERATION.

RICHARD WATERS, born in England, son of James and Phebe Waters, by trade a gunsmith, married in England, Rejoice Plaise (according to "Hist. of Sutton"). Received a grant of land in Salem, Mass., 22 day 3 mo. 1636. Bapt. at St. Botolph's, Aldersgate, London. March 3. 1604.

"By the list of 25 day 10 mo. 1637, before mentioned, giving the names of householders and the number of heads in their families, it appears that Richard Waters had five (5) in his family at that time; probably himself, his wife and three children.

In 1638 mention is made of his "howse", which stood, perhaps, not far from the upper end of Broad street."

Freeman in 1639. May 22.

"Mr. Waters seems first to have lived near the head of Broad street, but must very early have removed to the neck near Cat Cove, where he conveyed building lots to two or three of his children, forming a hamlet afterwards known as Watertown and which remained among his descendants until the middle of the last century."

"16th July 1676 "being ancient" Richard Waters wrote his will, (a beautiful specimen of his own handwriting,) which was sworn to by the witnesses in court at Salem 28 d., 9 mo. '77. He appoints his wife, Joyce, sole executrix, and bequeaths to her all his property during her life or widowhood, and after that, what remains, "to my sonn, William, to be secured in the hands of my sonne Ezekiel, for to maintain his brother William, during his natural life, in case my sonne Ezekiel be not willing to keep him if my sonn John undertake it then he shall have Williams estate during his natural life and at Williams death to be disposed of as followeth:"

Then follow bequests to sons James, John and Ezekiel, and to daughter Martha, of 10 s. each, provided there be left forty pounds clear estate at William's death, and the bulk of the property to go to daughters, Abigail Punchard, Mary* English, Susan Pulsifer and Hannah Striker, "whoe neither of them have had any part or portion of estate already, as my forementioned children have had."

Elisha Bradford lived near Kingston bridge, which is four miles from Plymouth ("and the first house on the right hand as one goeth from Kingston to Plymouth over the Bridge") and he died June 16, 1747, aged 78 years.

Allis Bradford, wife of Zebulon Waters, was born November 3, 1734.

ASA WATERS, son of Zebulon and Allis Waters, was born at Stoughton, Mass., February 11, 1760, and married Lydia Smith (who was born Jan. 10, 1763) November 10, 1785.

He served in the Revolutionary War for the American Independence. He enlisted in his seventeenth year for two months, Feb. and March, 1776 and was in Capt. Jedediah Southworth's Company and Col. Robinson's Regiment at Dorchester. When his time was out he went back to his father's, but in September, 1776 he enlisted again for nine months, in Capt. Zebedee Reading's Company and Col. Whitney's Regiment and was at Hull near Boston, and at Cambridge. He again returned to his home, and in July, 1778, enlisted to go to Tiverton, R. I., in Capt. Dix's Company and Col. Mackintosh's Regiment.

The 20th July 1779, he enlisted for nine months in the 1st Massachusetts Regiment, commanded by Joseph Vose of Milton and Capt. Stoddard's Company of Stockbridge. Thirteen went with him from Stoughton. They marched to West Point, New York, and had German guns which were "good, but rather heavy". The troops were inspected at West Point by Baron de Steuben of Prussia.

These items are taken from his own account of his services.

He acquired the title of Captain.

Lydia Smith was a daughter of Joseph Smith. He and Zebulon Waters, father of Asa, were among the first settlers of Stoughton, in the southwest corner of Norfolk Co. They both owned farms in the southwest corner of the township on the road leading from Boston to New Bedford. The farms were separated from each other about one fourth of a mile. Asa and Lydia were married soon after the close of the Revolutionary war. At the time of their marriage he owned a small farm adjoining his father's and lying between that and Joseph Smith's, so that they commenced life together immediately between their two parental homes.

He died in 1845 aged about 85 years and Lydia his wife died June 22, 1809.

He married twice after her death but had no children except by her.

3. Lewis, " Mch. 28, 1791, " See page 19.
4. Henry, " Apr. 13, 1793, died May 7, 1795.
5. Lydia, " May 9, 1797, married Mr. Waddel.

EIGHTH GENERATION.

ASA WATERS, son of Asa and Lydia Waters was born at Stoughton, Mass., December 14, 1786, and was married Oct. 24, 1810, at Providence, R. I., to Kezia Paddock Richmond of Taunton, Mass, who was born March 6, 1787 and was the second daughter of Israel Richmond of Middleborough, born Friday, July 11, 1755. He married Hannah Mirick; he was the oldest of the 13 children of Edward Richmond of Taunton, Mass., born Aug. 13, 1724, married Reliance Paddock in 1754. She was born in Middleborough, Mass., Dec. 23, 1734, O. S., and died Aug. 14, 1820.

Asa Waters manufactured shovels in Easton, Mass., assisted by his brother Oren, and with Oliver Ames built a cotton factory not far from the shovel factory. Oren superintended the factory. After a few years he sold his interest in the business and moved to Troy, N. Y., and after a short time went to the mouth of the Mohawk river, three miles above Troy and again commenced the manufacture of shovels, and Oren came out to help him, but soon started west towards Pittsburgh. Asa left New York State after being there three or four years and came to Pittsburgh and engaged in his old business of making shovels; he made the first which were manufactured in Pittsburgh. He afterwards commenced also to make coal picks and clay picks, mattocks and axes. Oren had meanwhile married and had two children and lived a short distance from the city. At Asa's request he again came to assist him, in June, 1824, and lived in the same house with Asa's family, which was on what was then called Irwin's Alley, now Hancock street, "on the right hand side as you go down towards the river, and the last or lowest down, to what is now called Duquesne Way." The manufactory was on the same street with his house. Oren says: "The lot on which our house stood was large, covering the lower half of the ground from Penn street to the river. Fronting on Penn street was a brick block of houses belonging to John Herron and James Anderson, whilst on the rear of the block was a grist mill and saw mill owned by John Herron and run by him, and the balance of the lot from the mills down to our house was used when needed to pile up boards and lumber on. Mr. Herron had given brother (Asa) liberty, and he had built some work shops on the lower part of the lot near the dwelling house." "There were no other improvements on that side of the alley except those I have named and on the opposite side there were no improvements from the river to Penn street except on the corner of Penn, where Christ Church now stands, there was a large frame house owned and occupied by James Irwin."

After about two years he rented a place in what is now the Fifth Ward, of about three or four hundred feet on the Allegheny river and running back to Penn street a distance of perhaps thirty rods, on which were some buildings suited to his business, with a steam engine. Here he manufactured shovels, axes, picks, mattocks and hoes and other implements. In about a year or so he put in some machinery for spinning cotton. Oren afterwards put up the first tilt-hammer in Pittsburgh and introduced the press for pressing the shovels into shape, and the fan-blast for forge fires.

Asa was also well known as a manufacturer of cotton gins, which he sold largely in the South.

This account is taken from a very interesting manuscript of considerable length, by Oren Waters, which gives a complete account of the introduction of the manufacture of shovels and axes in Pittsburgh by Asa and Oren. He says, about the year 1824, a single coal shovel would buy a barrel of flour or a hundred bushels of coal, though the profits were small, as the expense of making them was great, the iron being hauled a great distance and the handles brought from Philadelphia in wagons.

The above mentioned manuscript contains much interesting matter relating to the family history.

Asa Waters, the father of Col. Asa H. Waters of Millbury, Mass., strongly resembled Asa Waters of Pittsburgh in personal appearance. The father of each was named Asa; and each manufactured agricultural implements. The former, being in Pittsburgh one time on business was mistaken for Asa Waters of Pittsburgh, and replied to the man who accosted him that he was ignorant of the matter he enquired about, and his further answers as to his business, his father's name and his own, greatly puzzled the man, who did not understand how he could be mistaken.

Asa Waters died, a victim of the cholera at Pittsburgh, Pa., June 30, 1833, and was buried in the cemetery there.

Kezia, his wife, died at Pittsburgh, August 11, 1828, and was buried with her two infant children, by the First Presbyterian Church on Wood street.

MARRIED,

At Columbus, Ohio, September 14, 1882, JOHN HOWES WATERS, son of Capt. Asa Bradford Waters of Marietta, to IDA EVELYN DEAN, daughter of James A. Dean, who has been for more than thirty-three years Deputy Warden of the Ohio Penitentiary. Her mother was Susan Brickel, daughter of John Brickel, the first white resident of Columbus, Ohio.

BRADFORD.

The ancestors of Governor William Bradford lived in Austerfield, Yorkshire, England, where he was born. The name, originally from the Saxon Bradenford or Broad-ford, appears on the Parish Register spelled Bradfurth and Bradfourth, but orthography was then in an uncertain state.

In 1877 the writer, in company with his cousin, residing in Yorkshire, went to Austerfield, met some descendants of the Bradfords there, and visited the little stone Church or Chapel, where Governor Bradford was baptized and which still remains as it was at that time. The font was taken to Philadelphia in 1876. The old Communion service, flagon, chalice and paten, of pewter, were still in use. The Parish clerk said that an offer had been made by an American Bradford to exchange them for a set of solid silver, which was declined. The Chapel belongs to the Parish of Bawtry, where, at the Rectory, was seen the old parchment Register containing the record of the baptism of Governor William Bradford. Photographs were obtained of this record and also of the interior and exterior of the chapel at Austerfield.

I. WILLIAM BRADFORD, the grandfather of Gov. William Bradford, lived in Austerfield, in or about 1575. "The time of his death appears only from a record of his burial, noted as happening on the 10 January, 1595-6." He had four children:

1. William, who married Alice Hanson.
2. Thomas.
3. Robert, who married Alice Waingate.
4. Elizabeth, who married James Hill.

II. WILLIAM, the eldest son of William and father of the Governor, married Alice, daughter of John Hanson. He was buried on the 15 July, 1591. His children were:

1. Margaret, b. 8 March, 1585; died young.
2. Alice, b. 30 Oct., 1587.
3. William, the Pilgrim, the record of whose baptism reads thus:

"William son of William Bradfourth baptized the XIXth day of March Anno DM. 1589."

By the death of his father he was left an orphan at the age of about two years. He m. 1st, Dorothy May, 2nd, Mrs. Alice Southworth.

III. GOVERNOR WILLIAM BRADFORD, baptized March 19, 1589, married 1st, Dorothy May, and had by her one son, John, born before the emigration, who came to N. E. about a year after his parents.

About 1608 he went to Holland and joined the Pilgrims and came to Plymouth in the Mayflower in 1620. His wife was accidentally drowned, Dec. 7, 1620, during the absence of her husband on an examining tour, before the company in the Mayflower reached Plymouth.

He married, 2nd, Alice, widow of Constant Southworth, Aug. 14, 1623. Her maiden name was Carpenter. He had courted her in England but her parents being unwilling that she should come to America, the courtship ceased and he married Miss May. After her death, he wrote to Mrs. Southworth that if it were agreeable, and if she would come over, he would marry her. She came over in the "Ann," and brought her three sons with her: Thomas, Constant and Solomon; from them came the Southworths of Stoughton and Bridgewater. She died March 26, 1670, aged about 80, and "highly respected by the whole community."

He was chosen Governor in 1621, and was re-elected to that office every year till 1657, except five years, 1633, '34, '35, '38, '44. He died May 9, 1657, "lamented by all the Colonies of N. E., as a common father to them all." Their children were:

1. William, born 17 June, 1624, whose first wife was Alice Richards.
2. Mercy, born before 1627, married Benjamin Vermayes.
3. Joseph, born 1630, married Jael, daughter of Rev. Peter Hobart of Hingham, Mass., May 25, 1664. He came from Hingham, Old England, to Hingham, New England.

Gov. Bradford and his two sons William and Joseph were buried at Plymouth on "Burial Hill."

IV. JOSEPH BRADFORD, born 1630, married Jael Hobart May 25, 1664 and resided in Kingston. He died July 10, 1715. She died April 18, 1730, aged 88. They had two sons:

1. Joseph, born April 18, 1665.
2. Elisha, born 1669, married 1st, Hannah Cole; 2nd, Bathshua LeBrocke.

V. ELISHA BRADFORD, born 1669, married 1st, Hannah Cole, by whom he had six children, who all died young.

He married 2nd, Bathshua Le Brocke, Sept. 7, 1718, who survived her husband and married 2nd, Joshua Oldham.

When Elisha Bradford married his second wife, he was about fifty years old and she seventeen. By her he had fifteen children, the tenth of whom (VI.) Allis, married ZEBULON WATERS.

"Elisha Bradford lived in Kingston, near Kingston Bridge, which is 4 miles from Plymouth." He died June 16, 1747, aged 78.

The writer has in his possession a paper containing the signature of Elisha Bradford; the gift of Mathew A. Stickney, Esq., author of "The Stickney Family".

The family Bible of Gov. Bradford, printed in "German text" in 1592, brought with him in the Mayflower, descended to Elisha, his grandson, and contains the family record of the latter; it then passed into the family of Zebulon Waters, who married Allis, the daughter of Elisha Bradford. "It is said to have been exhibited by Mr. Asa Waters of Stoughton on some public occasion at Plymouth." He was a son of Zebulon Waters and grandfather of Asa Bradford Waters of Marietta, Ohio, to whom, as he told him, he wished the Bible to descend.

It was recently in the possession of Mr. Joseph Belcher Waters of Sharon (son of Zebulon, son of Zebulon, who married Allis Bradford), who is said to be a careful custodian of it.

* This Deborah was the mother of the American Heroine, DEBORAH SAMPSON, who, under the name of Robert Shirtliff, served about two years as soldier in the army of the Revolution, in Capt. Webb's Company, Col. Jackson's Regiment and General Patterson's Brigade, and after an honorable discharge from the Continental army, returned home to her mother at Plimpton in the Old Colony; assumed her female habiliments, and was married to Benjamin Gannet of Sharon, Ms., in 1784, where she died about ten years ago, and where three of her children reside at the present day." (1847.)

Deborah Sampson was born December 17, 1760. She was at the taking of Cornwallis and was in other engagements, on all occasions behaving man-fully; in one of these she was wounded by a musket ball, but her sex was not discovered nor the ball ever extracted, although one account relates the story differently.

She received a pension to the time of her death, in 1827—her husband survived her and her pension was continued to him by Congress.

[†] Married ZEBULON WATKINS, Sept. 21, 1757. (See page 8.)

GLEANINGS TOUCHING THE ANCESTRY OF BATHSHUA LEBROCKE.

BY A. H. WARD.

Israel Hobart of Hingham (b. June 29, 1642, brother of Jael Hobart, wife of Joseph Bradford) married Sarah Witherell of Scituate, Mass., in Jan. 1669; dau. of Rev. William Witherell, b. in England in 1600—came over in 1634 and ordained at Scituate, Sept. 2, 1645—tradition, handed down for truth, says that his mother was a daughter of John Rogers, the Smithfield martyr.

He was a man of learning, a powerful preacher, and held a high rank among the distinguished clergymen of his time. I have not learned the name of his wife—he died in office, April 9, 1684, aged 84—excuse me for relating an anecdote of him that ought not to be lost, it is illustrative of his manner of conducting the ministry and no less so of the manner of the times. "Mr. Bryant entered the church after the services were commenced, and Mr. Witherell, at the close of his prayer, addressed him thus—'Neighbor Bryant, it is to your reproach, that you have disturbed the worship by entering late, and living as you do, within a mile of this place, and especially so, since here is Goody Barston, who has milked seven cows, made a cheese, and walked five miles to the house of God in good season.' That was a severe rebuke to poor John Bryant; and perhaps administered with more freedom, as he was by marriage with the minister's daughter, Elizabeth, his son-in-law." Another of his daughters, Mary, m. Thomas Oldham of Scituate in 1656.

Sarah Witherell was baptized at Scituate in 1645, and m. Israel Hobart, as before mentioned, in Jan. 1669.—Their only child, of whom a record is found at Hingham, was Sarah—Hobart's Journal says—"May 30, 1670, Sarah Hobart was born, dau. of Israel". Israel Hobart removed, but when does not appear, to Scituate upon the border of Hingham, where he d. April 4, 1731, aged 89; his wife probably d. before him, as she is not mentioned in his will, dated in 1729. He left legacies to his son, Israel, to dau. Abigail, to Mary Withington, Grace Davis and Bathsheba Brock, daughters of my daughter, Sarah Brock; and to my dau. Jael, Executrix. Thus it appears that ——— Brock m. Sarah Hobart and had

Mary, who m. ——— Withington—a Dorchester name.
Grace, who m. ——— Davis.
Bathsheba (or Bathshua), who m. Elisha Bradford, her cousin, Sept. 7, 1718.

Henry Brock, of Dedham, d. 1652, made his will April 22, 1646. John was the only son named in his will and he settled his father's estate. He was also an Exr. of the will of a Mr. Baker of Dedham in 1646, and made freeman, Mass., in May, 1642.

In 1646 John Brock graduated at H. U., and became Pastor of the Church in Reading, Mass. He married Sarah Haugh, widow, at Reading, November 13, 1662, where it appears by the records of that town, that "Sarah, wife of John Brock, died, April 15, 1681," and "Mr. John Brock, Pastor of the Church, died June 18, 1688." It does not appear when he settled there. If he was the son of Henry Brock (and they are the only men I find in my research by the name of Brock) he must have been at least 66 years of age at the time of his death. At present I think it must have been a son of his, that m. Sarah Hobart.

The following concerning the children of Elisha Bradford, is chiefly from an account by Capt. Asa Waters, son of Zebulon and Allis Waters. It is in the MS. of Oren Waters. Hannah married Joshua Bradford of Plymouth, (5th child of Israel, 12th child of William, 2nd son of the Governor; who married Alice Richards.) They lived in Friendship, Me., and had three sons and two daughters. They were both killed by the Indians in their own house, May 22, 1758, and were buried on Gooseberry Island. "I was on the Island in Aug. 1785, with Uncle Carpenter Bradford, who lived about three quarters of a mile from there. I was on the spot where the house stood. It was pleasantly situated on the west side of Maduncook river."

Abigail Bradford married an officer in the British army and went to Halifax with him. She died Dec. 17, 1760. She had no children.

Lois married and lived on Long Island, N. Y.

Deborah married Jonathan Sampson, Jr., of Plympton, and had 3 sons and 3 daughters.

Laurana married Elisha McFarland of Plympton. She had a son Joseph and several other children.

Azenath married, 1st, Nathan Esty of Stoughton, July 22, 1753, and had one child by him, which died young. Esty enlisted as soldier in the old French war, went to Nova Scotia and died there. She then married, 2nd, Daniel Waters of Stoughton, and had three children by him, Bethiah, Lucy and Samuel. Daniel Waters died and she married, 3d, Benjamin Packard of Stoughton. By him she had four children. She died November 15, 1818.

Carpenter was the only son of Elisha Bradford that ever married. He was the youngest and lived the longest. His brothers all died before they were forty years old; he lived to be eighty-two. He married Mary Gay of Stoughton, "cousin to my first wife" (Lydia Smith), June 18, 1761. He went to Nova Scotia, returned and had a Lieutenant's commission in the Revolution. He afterwards brought his family from Onslow, Nova Scotia, to Friendship, Me., where he lived the remainder of his life. He had one son William and three or four daughters.

RICHMOND.

I. JOHN RICHMOND, of Taunton, Mass., was the first comer of the name to New England. He is said to have come from Ashton Keynes, Wiltshire, England, being baptized there in 1597, where the estate had been in possession of the Richmonds since the Conquest.

His name is not in the list of those able to bear arms in 1643, he being too old or in Newport. He was not specially distinguished; his age doubtless had something to do with this matter, besides, he was at one time in Bridgewater, then in Newport and also in Taunton, so perhaps did not become identified thoroughly with either place.

He was one of the Commissioners (for Newport) of the Court of Commissioners held at Portsmouth in 1656

He was born about 1594, as appears by his age at his death, March 20, 1664, aged 70 years. His will, Dec. 14, 1663, gave to eldest son John Richmond; to son-in-law William Paule, and Mary, his wife, and to their children; to youngest son Edward Richmond, and his son, Edward; to son-in-law Edward Rew, and Sarah, his wife; to son John's son, Thomas. Witnesses: Joseph Wilbore and Shadrack Wilbore; wife not named in the will — probably not living — her name not known.

John Richmond, his sons-in-law and Joseph Wilbore were among the first purchasers of Taunton, in 1637. His children, as per will, were (and we know of no others):

1. John, born in England about 1627; m. Abigail Rogers.
2. Mary, m. William Paule.
3. Edward, m. —— —— and lived at Little Compton, R. I. He was quite distinguished in public affairs; was Solicitor-General of Rhode Island.
4. Sarah, m. Edward Rew.

John Richmond and his brother Edward were proprietors in the Narragansett country in 1661, and in that part of it now Westerly, in 1669. John and five others had a grant of 3000 acres in Westerly in 1710, and he was then called John Richmon, Sen.

II. JOHN RICHMOND, son of John Richmond, was born about 1627 and married Abigail Rogers, daughter of John Rogers of Marshfield. He died Oct. 7, 1715, aged 88 years; she died Aug. 1, 1727, aged 86 years.

He was cotemporary with James Walker, Senior, and associated with him in public affairs. He was Constable, of the Town Council, Commissioner and Surveyor. He gave a deed of his home, lot and dwelling to son John, for £400. His residence at "Neck of Land", in Taunton, was about three quarters of a mile from the "Green" or center. He and his wife were buried there.

He was a distributor, in March, 1677, of £10, being Taunton's apportionment of £363, 3s. "Irish Charity," sent from Dublin, Ireland, Aug. 7, 1676, "to the distressed sufferers by King Philip's War," and apportioned among the people of 47 towns.

The names and births of his children are found in the Proprietor's records of Taunton. Children:

1. Mary, b. Bridgewater, June 2, 1654; m. Richard Godfrey.
2. John, b. " June 6, 1656; d. in his minority.

"Rev. Edward Richmond, D. D., b. Middleboro, Mass., June 29, 1767. Brown Coll., R. I., 1789; ordained Stoughton, 1792; resigned 1817 and in June of that year installed over third parish in Dorchester, Mass.; resigned on account of paralysis, May 13, 1833, and died April 10, 1842, in his 75th year. He was thrice m. (1) to Lucy, dau. of Rev. Joseph Palmer, H. U. 1747; ord. Norton South Precinct, Mass., 1753, and d. 1791 in his 62nd year; (2) to Sarah Manning of Ipswich, Mass., in May, 1813; (3) to Christiana, dau. of James Swan, Esq., of Dorchester, who survived him; his dau., Sarah, m. Francis H. Blanchard."

A romantic love story is told of his daughter, Lucy Palmer Richmond, and William Austin, a Sea Captain, whom her father would not allow her to marry. She died Oct. 25, 1816, aged 20. Dr. Richmond afterwards met Captain Austin and acknowledged him as his son, and with her father's permission he erected a headstone to Lucy's memory, at Stoughton.
